OVERVIEW

1. Introduction
2. Aims
3. Data and Data collection
4. Digital Data processing - Youth Language & Culture in a DH-context
5. Approaches towards dynamic knowledge exchange
6. Outlook and future perspectives

INTRODUCTION

- youth language/ youth slang → specific linguistic patterns and features typically used by youngsters
- rapidly changing terminology
- typical use of
 - abbreviations brother → bro; You only live once → YOLO
 - new word creations chillen + relaxen → chillaxen

- automate editing procedures
- TEI-compliant annotations
- possibility for future enlargement of the corpus

YOUTH LANGUAGE & CULTURE IN A DH-CONTEXT

Viennese Lexicographic Editor (VLE) <https://clarin.oeaw.ac.at/vle>

The screenshot shows the Viennese Lexicographic Editor (VLE) interface. The main window title is "Editor (1): deu_jugspr". The top menu bar includes "Entries", "Config", and "Actions". The "Actions" menu has options like "Control", "Display", "Log", "Update profile", "Templates", "Save", "Transform act. entry 2 editor", "Edit senses", "Validate", and "Close program". Below the menu is a toolbar with "Results", "Last queries", and "Versions". A search bar shows the query "all". The left sidebar lists various youth language terms with their definitions, such as "why", "willst du mich verarschen?", "Wmd?", "WÜWÜ", "wv", "XO", "YOLO", "zach", "Angella [noun]", "cookster [noun]", "Cränger [noun]", "doggen [verb]", "Entenmama [noun]", "epic beef [noun]", "Flunderkotze [noun]", "gell/gö", "Gig", "glücksmasn [noun]", "hd", "homen [verb]", "Homer-Eltern", "homy [noun]", "ilmc", "Kagge/Ogge [noun]", "kb", "lb [verb]", "lg [noun]", "LY", "Neco [noun]", "popositz [noun]", "Ratzenfummel [noun]", "sl [verb]", "Snapi [noun]", "Q - Kevin [noun]" (selected), "zucker [noun]", "Zahnarztschnecke [noun]", "partschwim [verb]", "us [noun]", and "swinkin [verb]". The central area displays XML code for a lexicographic entry:

<entry xmlns="http://www.tei-c.org/ns/1.0" xml:id="kevin_001">
  <form type="lemma">
    <orth>Q - Kevin</orth>
  </form>

  <gramGrp>
    <gram type="pos">noun</gram>
  </gramGrp>
  ...

  <sense>
    <cit type="translation" xml:lang="de">
      <quote>das Opfer unter den Kevins, ·Gegenteil von α-Kevin</quote>
    </cit>
  </sense>
</entry>

To the right, a table shows the lemma and sense information:

Lemma	Sense
Q - Kevin [noun]	das Opfer unter den Kevins, ·Gegenteil von α-Kevin

At the bottom, a table titled "Trans. table" provides detailed information about the selected entry:

id	sid	type	table

Trans. table:	lang
	Element <gram type="pos">	pos	7:32

APPROACHING DYNAMIC KNOWLEDGE EXCHANGE

Creative Exploratory Knowledge Interaction

- foster participatory approach in a digital environment
- establish open workflows
- make use of open repositories
- create an interdisciplinary source and resource
- potential hub for Citizen Science involvement

OUTLOOK & CONCLUSION

- continuation of workshops & data collection in 2017
 - @KinderUniSteyr
 - @KinderUniWien
 - @KinderUniWels
- foster participatory approach by initiating collective digital design processes
- establish common work processes for harvesting cultural information
- work towards a digital participatory environment for dynamic knowledge interaction

OUTLOOK & CONCLUSION

In a larger European context

- connect to and incorporate in more wide-ranging infrastructures
